

About us

Being that the National Taitung University transformed from the National Taitung Teacher College, the Office of Research and Development was therefore established on February 1, 2006 to strengthen the educational mission of the university. The tasks of the Office are to create new policies and directions for the university's academic research development and to enhance reform of its administrative system in order to response current changes in domestic and international academic research environment.

The Office is also dedicated to providing a wide range of research resources through making partnerships with industries. This division includes two unit:

Division of Research Planning & Coordination
